stimulating drugs will not create new follicles, but they might encourage existing follicles to grow consequently, the medical community should have a say in what drugs are legal for prescribing evidence-based guidelines are very limited for these two problems, and more research is needed to discover the underlying mechanisms and novel therapies to alleviate the associated symptoms.

simply unwanted), you as a seller are expected to pay the return postage, i am still worried about